

Rule 361

Each electronic recording must be distinctively marked. The clerk of the district court must maintain an index to the electronic recordings that identifies the proceedings contained on the electronic recordings. The clerk must also maintain general control and provide for the safe-keeping of all electronic recordings.

[History: Am. effective January 3, 2006; Am. effective July 1, 2020.]